Only One Issue In The State-Wide General Election

If voters generally over Kentucky are somewhat confused about the issues to be decided in the general election next Tuesday, they are perhaps, no more so than the most astute of political observers.

The one thing which emerges clearly however is that the Democrats stand squarely for continuation of the modernization of Kentucky's institutions begun under Gov. A. B. Chandler and continued under Gov. Keen Johnson; also, for long overdue improvement of our State Parks and for doing a better job of publicizing Kentucky's limitless attractions, to the end that more tourist dollars shall come into the State and abide here, while on the other hand, Gov. S. S. Willis' program, known only to himself, seems certain to put Kentucky back into debt and leave progress to the indefinite future.

It requires no great intelligence to know that Kentucky cannot lose $25 million in the next 2 years and do anything about meeting the great and pressing demands of education, the State Parks, the Conservation Department, the Welfare agencies and the Highway Department. And that's what the State will lose if the Good Roads Amendment is adopted and the Governor is successful in having the State Income Tax repealed, as his campaign chairman says he will seek to do.

In this legislative district, we have the choice of voting for Joe E. Nunn, of Trigg county, a Democrat, or Earl Hillyard, Republican, of Caldwell county. The Leader will take Democrat Nunn, because he will go along with the program for progress in Kentucky, whereas Mr. Hillyard may safely be depended upon to support the Governor's program, whatever it is...and indications are it will be pitched upon the plane the Governor thinks best calculated to win him votes when he runs for the United States Senate, next year.

Best guessers think Governor Willis will let the vacancy created by Senator Chandler's resignation ride, or fill the

Happy Leaves Senate . . . Keen Should Be Next

"Senator after senator arose to praise Chandler's record and to wish him well in his new post", the Associated Press reported Tuesday in carrying the news of Senator A. B. Chandler's leaving the United States Senate, which he did Monday.

Sensor Chandler, despite a newspaper and magazine propaganda campaign which has sought to make it appear some baseball magnates are dissatisfied with him as commissioner, has the best wishes of a very large majority of those who love the great American game...and will do well in this important position.

Happy has what it takes to sell baseball to the kids and to the public. His qualifications, sports background, temperament and Nation-wide contacts make him the ideal personality to cope with postwar baseball problems better than any living man. His will to surmount difficulties, which has carried him to the heights, will see him through to conspicuous success in his new undertaking, despite the enmity of some powerful politicians and sports writers, who had axes to grind and who were disgruntled when Happy got this job over their favorites.

Oh, For Another Bristow

The following item appeared the other day in the New York Herald Tribune column "One Hundred Years Ago."

Mr. Bristow, the eminent writing-master, will re-open his Academy this day, at 189 Broadway, for the instruction of ladies and gentlemen in the art of writing. Mr. B. is famous for curing, in 12 lessons, an illegible hand, and we commend him to all who wish to acquire a beautiful and free style of writing; his system of teaching is too well known to require further comment.

Those who may have packets of old letters written a hundred years ago, or even 50 years ago, must often have been impressed by the beautiful script in which they were written, a steel-engraving chirography, as legible as print. In those days it was thought to be an essential part of education to be able to write a "fair" hand. Those who could not write legibly were supposed to be poorly educated.

The art of writing by hand had come place temporarily with one of his close friends who will not be a candidate next year for the unexpired portion of Happy's term, which runs through 1948.

Governor Willis, laboring under the heavy load of his broken promise to repeal the State Income Tax and anxious to please the Big Money boys who are most disgruntled because of his failure to relieve them of this tax burden, will, his political leaders says, ask for and try to force through the Legislature, repeal of the State Income Tax, in order to have a full coffer for next year's Senate contest.

Let us remember that, while Gov. Flem D. Sampson made a lot of whoopee about "Kentucky for Progress", the State only sank deeper into debt, let its institutions decline further into disgrace, neglected the schools...and otherwise made idle and costly gestures.

Then came the Democratic administrations of Happy Chandler and Keen Johnson, during which the per capita for schools went up from $8 to $16, the institutions were rehabilitated, the $25 million debt was paid off and a real start made toward lifting Kentucky from the bottom of the roll of states.

Keen Johnson left $10 million in the State Treasury and the war boom has given Governor Willis more money to spend than any other Kentucky Governor ever dreamed of, so that more service is possible and more improvements can be made...but not if the State loses $8 million a year by giving up the revenue from the Income Tax and another $2½ million annually goes from the General Fund into the Highway Fund, as result of adoption of the Good Roads Amendment.

There really is no issue before the voters in the State election next Tuesday except this: Shall Kentucky go back into debt, while neglecting to keep stride with other states in rendering proper service to its people; or shall the program for progress be continued?

It is hinted that Postmaster General Hannegan is one of those who was miffed because his choice wasn't elected Baseball Commissioner. Some sports writers do not like Larry McPhail, who backed Chandler for the baseball post. We have it on excellent authority that the horse racing folk, who were offended when Happy said baseball players should not bet on the races, have not joined in the campaign to discredit the new Baseball boss...but the fact remains that there has been and still is a rather obvious effort, which could not spring from so many different places and sources without inspiration other than individual, is being waged to make the going hard for Happy.

"The 'when will Chandler resign' excitement is thus ended. Now comes the 'senator apparent' fun, with Gov. S. S. Willis very much on the spot.

We hope Keen Johnson will be the Democratic candidate for the unexpired portion of Happy's term, for his record of efficiency and accomplishment for Kentucky stand out as by far the best in the State's modern history and we think he would make the best Junior United Senator Kentucky could possibly select at this important juncture in history.

down through the centuries, from a day antedating printing. Books were in manuscript form. Copying them was one of the fine arts. Books were embellished with lovely capitals often in color. Reading them was a delight.

Even as late as 25 or 30 years ago Spencerian penmanship was taught in the schools and great stress was laid upon the art of writing. Now young people who are being graduated from high schools and colleges write so poorly that letters from them are almost illegible. No importance seems to attach to penmanship. Perhaps it is because the type-writer has come into such general use. But no machine can ever take the place of the pen. Much correspondence, if the proprieties are respected, must be carried on with it. It is, therefore very important to give training in its use, in the formation of letters, in capitalization, and in punctuation, which is almost as much of a lost art, with millions, as the art of penmanship.

Oh, for another Bristow! (Lexington Leader)

An old and dirty tobacco sack, a camera, some of his pictures picked up in front of his place of business by Fred Taylor, proved to have $49 in bills inside. And Bob Barrett was very, very happy indeed to get his money back a short time later. Barrett had been to the Princeton Lumber Company's office, to pay a bill, and after missing his money-tobacco sack on returning home, rushed back to Mr. Taylor with his bad news.

The Caldwell and Three Rivers Baptist associations have adopted resolutions pledging their support to the new Baptist Memorial Hospital at Paducah and a campaign to obtain $500,000 for this institution begins Thursday, Nov. 1. The hospital drive is still languishing here but meanwhile, other communities move forward in the right direction.

Can it be we think less of our health here than the folks at Paducah do of theirs? Certainly we need a hospital worse than Paducah does, for Paducah already has two good hospitals.

Another horrible aftermath of Hitler's Nazi regime is brought out in John Fox's bulletin for the Hanover Presbyterian Church, issue of October 21 which says: "Most children born in Germany in the last 2 years are expected to die, it was reported here by Dr. Hans Schoenfeld, staff member of the World Council of Churches. In one typical town, 99 of 108 children born in July have already died."

Christmas decorations, especially colored lights in the business district, will again be seen in many towns as the holiday season approaches and plans are being made to put up the lights in Princeton at the appropriate time, an officer of the Retail Merchants Association said this week. The bright, gay lights add materially to pre-Christmas anticipation of all, especially children.

Members of the Corbin Rotary Club took a poll on ten questions pertaining to the future of Corbin, at their meeting Thursday noon at the Wilbur hotel, and voted that the need of an adequate "visible" water supply was the most pressing need. Princeton Rotarians, this would be a good project for you!

A prize winning photograph, the work of Joe LaGore, managing editor of the Paducah Sun-Democrat, has been selected to appear on the front cover of the first issue of the new State Game and Fish magazine, due out soon. The picture is of a Llewellyn setter and was selected from 25 choice entries sent in from all over the State.

Feed for Dairy Cows

Need their grain ground. A. A. Spielman, Dairy Department of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, believe they do not chew their food thoroughly when they eat roughage. He says that the only way to get the most out of the roughage is to grind it. As much as 10 percent of unground grain is lost in the stomach of a dairy cow. These cows are following hogs or poultry. Dairy men do a better job of chewing their food, therefore, grinding it for them is of no particular value.

Net Grind Roughage

Grinding hay does not increase its digestibility. It is in fact less digestible because it does not readily bring up the cud. Ground hay can not be placed in the stomach of a cow. It is still a roughage with a large amount of fiber.

Grinding soybean hay of good and pods well filled with soybeans is an exception. In general, money spent grinding hay for milk cows will bring much greater return if spent for proteins or supplements. There is no need of making feed of good quality poor hay by grinding. It may grind poor hay and molasses and cows will eat it. They will eat almost anything molasses on it. Filling a cow with poor quality roughage is an economical nor practical method of production. Molasses is a feed; there is no object, however, in using molasses to make a cow eat roughage. The best feed for a cow is good hay.

Poor Land Made To Grow Big Hay Crop

When Jamie Dodson bought a Marshall county farm in 1940 and built a big stock barn neighbors told him he never grew enough hay to fill the loft. They said the loft would hold all the corn stover and hay together that he could grow on the farm.

A soil-building program, including the use of limestone and phosphate, brought a hay crop this year that more than filled the barn loft with baled hay. He had to build a shed to hold the extra hay. He told County Agent H. E. Rothwell that the farm is producing better than some river-bottom farms he had lived on.

Tobacco Stalks Make Good Bedding

Tests at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington showed that whole or cut tobacco stalks make satisfactory bedding under horses and cattle. Finely cut stalks make excellent absorbents in poultry droppings pits if super-phosphate was used as a preservative.

The stalks were readily tamped down and broken up by horses and if tramped in the stall for two or three weeks they spread readily with a manure spreader. The stalks were not as absorbent as straw but if used in the right amounts they held the liquid manure and kept the animals clean.

Under beef cattle in stalls, whole stalks were not so satisfactory as straw in keeping animals clean but they held the liquid manure and there was no more loss of nitrogen than with straw. The stalks were broken up so as to handle easily in a manure spreader.

Manure could be handled more easily when stalks cut in an ensilage cutter were used. Cutting stalks with this type of equipment is considered rather expensive, depending on labor and availability of equipment.

News From The Past

News representing lives, hopes, dreams and ambitions of those who made up the populace of Princeton and Caldwell county almost 40 years ago recorded nowhere but in the yellowed files of Twice-A-Week Leader of those years will be published as a regular Leader feature. The articles are reproduced just as the Princeton reporters, shortly after the turn of the century, wrote them.

Princeton, Ky. May 5, 1914. Mr. J. D. Leech, president of the Farmers National Bank, was in Eddyville yesterday, making some settlements in estates.

Princeton, Ky. May 14, 1914. Mr. F. K. Wylie has been notified by Senator Ollie James of confirmation of his appointment of the U. S. Senate as postmaster of Princeton. Mr. Wylie will assume the duties of his office May 20.

Princeton, Ky. May 19, 1914. Chas. Eldred and wife and daughter, Cora Dee, and Misses Dorothy Ratliff and Elsie Young are spending today fishing at Kuttawa Lake.

Princeton, Ky. May 22, 1914. Roy McLin celebrated his eighth birthday Wednesday afternoon at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. McLin, on North Jefferson street, from 2 to 5 o'clock. Quite a number of invited guests were present to make the occasion a pleasant event for their little host. Refreshments were served to the delight of the little guests making the occasion one of great pleasure.

Princeton, Ky. May 24, 1914. Princeton has another automobile. Yesterday Mr. E. L. Pickering received his new J. I. Case five-passenger car. It is a dandy and Mr. Pickering is very proud of it.

New Record Set In Turkey Production

The Kentucky turkey crop is estimated to be 12 percent larger than last year. For the entire country, turkey production is 22 percent over the record crop of 1944, and the number of turkeys raised has doubled in 10 years.

A report of the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington says demand for the coming holiday season is expected to be strong. Supplies for civilian consumption are expected to be larger than a year ago. About 20 percent of the turkeys were expected to be sold by the end of October, which is unusually early marketing.

PEOPLE'S TICKET

As candidates on the People's Ticket for Mayor and Councilmen of the City of Princeton, we, the undersigned, desire to place our platform and candidacies before the voters in this announcement, seeking their favorable consideration prior to the General Election, Tuesday, Nov. 6, 1945. We respectfully submit the following proposed program as our platform:

First: We propose, if elected, to completely reorganize the Police Department and pledge ourselves to the responsibility for 100 percent cooperation in supporting that department. The Mayor, as such, in the head of the Police Department, and the undersigned candidate for that office assumes responsibility of seeing that all laws and ordinances are strictly enforced, regardless of race, creed or color.

Second: We promise ACTION, instead of promises, on improving our present water and sewage systems. The installation of a filtration plant. A sanitary Street Department, to keep our streets clean, for the sake of the health of our community; and to see that the garbage is collected at every home.

Third: To improve and develop a Fire Department which will actually protect the property owners of Princeton, by adding the necessary equipment and employing the necessary men to man this equipment, which will meet with the approval of the State Board of Underwriters.

Fourth: We promise that the streets in all sections of the City will be kept in passable condition and also, that all sections of the City Cemetery will be given equal attention, to see that this place is kept in the best possible condition.

We realize the responsibility to be placed upon us, if we are elected, as we submit our candidacies to the voters of Princeton. We promise efficient management and pledge our utmost in carrying out these campaign pledges, insofar as the finances of the City of Princeton will permit.

Furthermore, we have not promised and will not promise any job to anyone, regardless of what you may hear; however, ex-service men returning and applying for employment, will be given first consideration, if competent to fill the job applied for.

The time for the election is very near and since we will be unable to see each of you, we take this means of soliciting your vote and influence.

Tanner Gives His Local Background And Qualifications

In submitting myself to you as a candidate for Mayor, I would also like to give you a few facts concerning my background, that you might judge as to my qualifications.

I was born on a farm near Owensboro, Ky. Came to Princeton in 1904 as an employee of the Illinois Central Railroad. Here too I married and three of our four children were born here.

When I was promoted and left Princeton, in 1917, I made a statement to the local paper that I would always consider this my home and someday I would come back to retire.

I am back but not to retire until I can make Princeton the kind of town that I have always boasted it was.

I have served as engineering assistant to the president of two railroads, each road having ten times as many employees as the total population of Princeton.

I have no complaint to make on my opponents. They are both high class gentlemen.

The only question in this election is, do you want a mechanical man to handle your equipment or some one trained along other lines?

If you want an experienced man, vote for I. B. Tanner for Mayor.

As for the Council, you have eleven men to choose from. So just take your time and shop around and vote for six. You can not make a mistake; they are all good.

TO THE VOTERS CALDWELL COUNTY

On behalf of my candidacy for County Court Clerk, I wish to take this means of appealing to you as individual voters for your support. I will be unable to see each of you in person, but I hope you will consider this as a personal appeal for your vote.

I need this office and will forever be grateful for any and all favors shown me. I have a college education and feel that I am qualified to make you an efficient and capable official you can rest assured that you will always receive honest and courteous treatment.

Please give me a chance. I shall see that you will never have cause for regret.

JUDGE'S WIFE GIVES RETONGA FULL CREDIT

Declares Noted Medicine Gave Her More Relief Than Any Other Medicine She Found In Fifteen Years Search. Tells About Her Case.

Well-known men and women, including business men, officials, nurses, workers and educators, continue to come forward with strong public endorsements of Retonga. Among the latest is Mrs. L. D. Arnold, wife of a former County Judge of Lee County, who resides at Congleton, Kentucky. They are widely known and few people enjoy greater respect or confidence. Discussing Retonga Mrs. Arnold gratefully stated:

"For fifteen years I suffered almost continual distress from nervous indigestion, poor appetite, loss of sleep and sluggish elimination. At times so much gas formed in my stomach after meals, it was difficult for me to breathe. My nerves were easily upset, I felt as though I never got enough sleep, and I had to rely on laxatives all the time. Sometimes I felt I should never find a medicine to help me feel good again.

"Retonga gave me real and surprising relief. My appetite returned and I eat anything I want. I rest well at night, I do not feel nervous, and the sluggish elimination also has been relieved. I feel better than in years and my friends, knowing how I suffered, marvel at how well I now look. It would be hard for me to praise Retonga enough."

Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to Vitamin B-1 deficiency, sluggish elimination, insufficient flow of gastric juices in the stomach and loss of appetite. Accept no substitute. Retonga may be obtained at Dawson's Drug Store. Adv.

GENERAL ELECTION TUESDAY, NOV. 6, 1945

You Vote And Influence Will Be GREATLY APPRECIATED!

A STATEMENT IN BEHALF OF THE CONSERVATIVE TICKET!

On next Tuesday, November 6, the voters of Princeton will be given the opportunity to elect a mayor for a term of four years and six councilmen for two-year terms each.

As this opportunity presents itself, it becomes the duty of the voters to avail themselves of that opportunity and to prepare themselves to discharge that duty in the way that will be to the best interests of Princeton in bringing the most good to the greatest number.

A study of the record made by the incumbent Mayor and Councilmen, during the past four years, reveals accomplishments in the municipal affairs worthy of indorsement. The record they have made is not perfect and may not be everything they would like for it to be for they have been handicapped because of the lack of manpower and other conditions over which they had no control, but the good they have been instrumental in accomplishing so overshadows any failures that there should be no doubt, or equivocation, as to their meriting an indorsement by the voters.

In their announcement, the Conservative Ticket nominees, do not make fulsome and extravagant promises; they do not claim to have any patents or any Utopian dreams as to the management of the City's affairs, which they know from experience can not be fulfilled. They do promise a continuation of a sane, safe, frugal administration of municipal affairs and to this end solicit the votes of their constituents.

The fact that the City's finances are in good condition, should not be accepted as something that just happened. It was good government and good management that brought it about, and bad government and bad management can undo it. That is something for all voters to think about, and we believe a fair and impartial study of the record, made along all lines the past four years, will justify a vote of indorsement.

THE RIGHT TRACTOR FOR THE PARTICULAR JOB

THE proverbial Jack-of-all-trades was master of none. The modern world of science and technology passed him by.

The same principle applies to farm tractors. The tractor that does a wide variety of jobs unsatisfactorily can't possibly produce the greatest results at the least cost in any job.

But that's what the farmer—particularly the small operator—has got to do to meet postwar competition: he's got to produce the most food possible with the least effort and, consequently, at the lowest cost.

The farmer with 10 acres in truck crops needs one kind of tractor. The farmer with 100 acres in wheat alone needs another kind—or, as is usually the case, two or more different tractors. The tractor which does a good job on the Great Plains may be useless in the rice territory. And so it goes.

Conditions of climate, the lay of the land, and the character of soils in the different parts of this vast country, together with wide variations in the nature of crops and the size of operations, combine to produce wide differences in the requirements for tractors. Harvester's policy is to meet all these requirements.

That is why Harvester's postwar line includes a great variety of Farmalls and other specialized tractors and attachments rather than a single tractor with a single system of tools. Every tractor in the line was developed after scientific research and testing under actual operating conditions showed the specifications needed for efficiency and economy.

Every Harvester-built tractor is the right machine for its particular job.

Shoe Rationing Is Ended Wednesday OPA Says Output Now Equals Pre-War Demand

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Oct. 31 — The end of shoe rationing was ordered effective at 12:01 a.m. Wednesday.

Terminating a program which began February 8, 1943, OPA Administrator Chester Bowles said rationing can be lifted because shoe production has increased substantially since V-J Day.

Some trouble spots can be expected for a while, Bowles said, adding that customers "may not always be able to buy the styles they want."

The OPA chief reported that shoe output climbed from 20,000,000 pairs in August to around 28,000,000 pairs in October.

Bowles said outlook for November and December is for 29 to 30 million pairs of shoes each month. This, he added, would be equal to demand before the war.

OPA called on shoe merchants to give preferential treatment to returning servicemen and women.

18 months, and participated in the invasion of Leyte, Luzon, Okinawa and several others. He will report to Louisville November 22 for further assignment.

Road Amendment Will Be Adopted, Survey Indicates

Organizations, Including Farm Bureau, Favor Proposal On State Ballot

Confidence that the Good Roads Amendment will be ratified by a large majority when Kentucky voters go to the polls Tuesday was expressed by representatives of the Kentucky Good Roads Federation following a statewide survey.

The Good Roads Amendment, the Soldier Vote Amendment, and two amendments on the ballot have been vigorously supported by more than 50 organizations affiliated with the federation, and volunteer workers in all parts of the State report little opposition has developed.

"We are most grateful for the support of the Good Roads Amendment," said Eugene H. Bowles, executive vice-president of the federation. "What little opposition has developed has been due to misunderstanding of the amendment. Once it is clearly explained, we find it is quickly accepted throughout the State."

Farmers taken an active interest in the amendment. Both amendments have been endorsed by the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation.

Sixteen states have already adopted constitutional amendments to protect their highway funds and other states will probably adopt similar amendments to theirs in coming elections.

Much of the support of the amendment comes from those who are anxious to see farm to market roads improved in Kentucky.

The federal government will spend $27,000,000 on Kentucky's main highways and rural roads in the first three postwar years. The state supplies a like amount and it is through the dedication of the Good Roads Amendment that this sum can be assured.

All members of the Good Roads Federation and its affiliates have been urged to urge Kentuckyans to go to the polls Tuesday if for no other reason than to make certain that the Amendment is ratified.

Inoculating Beans Gives Big Returns

J. T. Workman of Hickman county, who planted 200 acres of soybeans this year, figures that by inoculating his seed he increased his yield from three to eight bushels per acre. On a demonstration plot, soybeans which had been inoculated yielded 80 to 115 pods per stalk, as against 46 to 82 pods per stalk where the seed had not been treated. If beans sell for $2.90 per bushel, Workman will receive from $8.70 to $23.20 for an investment of 20 cents, according to Farm Agent Warren Thompson.

Victory Cattle Show To Be Best Ever Held In Ky.

Entries Total 2761 Head In 24th Annual Event At Bourbon Stockyards Nov. 7-9

Entries totaling 2,761 head of cattle will make the Victory State Fat Cattle Show at the Bourbon Stock Yards, Louisville, November 7, 8 and 9 the largest ever held in Kentucky. It will be the 24th annual show.

Nineteen hundred and eleven calves have been entered by members of 4-H clubs and 850 by Future Farmers of America. No cattle will be shown by farmers.

Several thousand dollars will be awarded in cash prizes on carloads, single calves, best five and best ten head, best home-raised calves, record books and championships. There also will be educational trips and other awards.

Championships will be awarded in each of the two sections of the show, but there will be no grand championship this year. Judging will be done on Wednesday and Thursday and the cattle sold at auction on Friday.

Calves weighing 800 pounds or more and selling for $14.40 or more a hundred will command a subsidy premium of 50 cents a hundred.

Arrangements are being made by the Bourbon Stock Yards Company to entertain the largest crowd ever attending this show. Each exhibitor will receive a glazed plaque indicating his participation in the Victory cattle show.

Handling Dairy Sires Discussed In Leaflet

"Selection, Feeding and Management of Dairy Bulls" is the title of a new leaflet published by the University of Kentucky and Home Economics. Briefly discussed are such subjects as selecting the herd sire, handling young and mature bulls, housing the animals, and the important matter of safety.

Safety bull pens have been developed that are not expensive to build. Every farmer owning a bull should have one. The leaflet contains illustrations showing the construction of safety bull pens and breeding stalls. Copies of the leaflet may be had at offices of county agents or by writing to the college.

Messrs. Norman and Travis Cartwright and H. H. Woosley of Detroit, have been here visiting Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Oden.

Mrs. Clarence Boyle, of Colorado, who has been visiting her brother, Isaac McCormick and family and other relatives of the county has returned home.

Howard DeBoe, who for the last several years has been in industrial employment in Detroit, has moved here to his farm and will engage in farming for a few years.

Mrs. R. V. Pickering has been at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Amon Orange of Scottsburg for past two weeks. Mrs. Orange is recuperating from a major operation.

Pvt. Cleaton Hale, stationed at Camp Walters, Texas, has been visiting his wife, little daughter, and other relatives.

Several farmers, who have finished burley stripping, are delivering their crop to Hopkinsville warehouses in advance of sales opening.

Mrs. Ethel French and Miss Thelma Brandon, teachers of Friendship school, and pupils, attended the school fair at Cobb school last Friday.

Several real estate transfers have been reported in this section of the county in last few weeks.

Estell Ladd has left for Hopkins county to work for a highway construction company.

Home Study Easier Where Light Good

Take it from a school child, home study is easier when a good light is provided. For enough light, use bulb of at least 100 watts in a lamp that is shaded and if possible, says Miss Ida C. Hagman, home management specialist at the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics, have it equipped with a diffusing bowl for softened light. Miss Hagman further states that a 100-watt bulb cost only a third as much as four 25-watt bulbs, and provides more light while using no more electricity.

Kentucky Feed Situation Good

Big corn and hay crops make the Kentucky feed situation brighter than it was a year ago, according to the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington. The Kentucky corn crop is estimated at 77,000,000 bushels, or 10,000,000 bushels larger than last year and 11,000,000 bushels above the 1934-43 average.

There was a record crop of 2,400,000 tons of hay, of 50 percent larger than the hay crop last year.

With about the same numbers of livestock on Kentucky farms as a year ago, supplies of farm-produced feed available for feeding will be materially larger than last year.

In the nation as a whole there may be considerable soft corn, it is noted by the Experiment Station. Kentucky farmers buying trucked-in corn may find the quality lower than in some former years.

The Tip-Off

DAR-ES-SALAAM—(P)—East Africa Military Records Fingerprint Bureau is described as a miracle of simplicity. Giving a press interview, an officer called a native soldier who happened to be passing in the street. His fingerprints were taken, and within five minutes the soldier was told his name, age, unit, home village and other details.

Point Values Of Fats Cut; Meat Short This Month

Butter Supply Due To Be 12 Percent Greater In November, OPA Reports

(By Associated Press)

Butter, margarine, lard, shortening and oils went down to eight points a pound Sunday.

The OPA, announcing this reduction from 12 points, said current ration values will be maintained through December 1 on the better cuts of beef, veal and lamb and on all lean pork.

All meats now ration-free will continue so during November. The only revision of the meat chart is assignment of lower ration values for six fat pork cuts and barbecued pork. These cuts range from two to four points a pound.

OPA Administrator Chester Bowles said point reduction for butter and other fats and oils are due to improved supply.

The Agriculture Department estimates that butter supply will be 12 percent greater in November. Release of 80,000,000 pounds by the Army is given as the reason.

Among fats and oils, lard supply has improved most. It will be up about 39 percent on November, the Agriculture Department said. Bowles reported the over-all meat supply is expected to be about one half of one percent less this month than in October.

"Up to this time, therefore, meat supplies do not permit the end of rationing," Bowles said.

Because of foreign requirements, the domestic supply of beef will be down about 13 percent in November, veal about 19 percent and lamb and mutton about 22 percent.

Offsetting these declines, the heavy seasonal run of hogs to market is expected to boost the pork supply by about 41 percent.

An Agriculture Department spokesman said this country's foreign commitments on meat have not been met in full and that this will require heavier shipment in November than had been planned.

Lower point values for fat pork apply to such cuts as plates and jowls.

The new series of five stamps becoming valid November 1 for meats and fats, including the last four red stamps—W1, X1, Y1, and Z1—and green stamps—N8—in Ration Book Four.

Owensboro Man Purchases Gas Co.

Owensboro—Sale of the Western Kentucky Gas Co. to W. T. Stevenson, of Owensboro, owner of the Owensboro Gas Company, has been announced by L. E. Ingham, vice president of the Kentucky Natural Gas Corporation. The Western Kentucky Gas Company was a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Kentucky Natural Gas Corporation.

Simultaneously, Mr. Stevenson announced a merger of the Owensboro Gas Company and the Western Kentucky Gas Company to become effective November 1. The merger concerns will be operated thereafter as the Western Kentucky Gas Company. The Western Kentucky Gas Company, as a result of the merger, will serve 38 communities and 16,358 customers in Western Kentucky, including Princeton.

The foreign service of the U. S. State Department is organized in grades similar to Army ranks. There are four "unclassified" grades which might be compared to non-commissioned Army officers; and eight "classified" grades which could be aligned alongside commissioned Army officers through the rank of colonel.

Living War Memorials

(Associated Press Features)

Instead of the monuments and camouflaged guns of World War I, living war memorials are being planned by many U. S. communities, to keep green the memory of the heroes of World War II.

Most of the 48 states as well as larger cities throughout the country already have under way their plans for memorial parks and playgrounds, stadiums and sports arenas, parkways and community centers.

For the smaller towns and suburban communities, however, less costly projects are in order, and it is for these that the suggestion is made to plan simple memorial flower gardens.

More than 100 inquiries a day are received at the Columbus, Ohio, headquarters of the American Commission for Living War Memorials, from cities and villages alike.

Several projects within the reach of the average small town budget are suggested by Charles H. Perkins, father of two sons in the service and head of the 73-year-old nursery firm of Jackson and Perkins at Newark, N. Y. Says Mr. Perkins:

"Small towns which already have community centers might think automatically of planting on the surrounding grounds. But what about a popular intersection where people wait for trolleys or buses? Most of these could stand some brightening up."

"If yours is a town filled with commuters, the area around the railroad station might be planted with fragrant blooms to welcome weekend visitors, as well as to provide beauty and color for the daily traveler.

"Or there may be an area of ground space beside your public library which might be developed into an outdoor reading room. What better memorial could there be than a flower-filled garden where people could read and relax in the summer time? A neat bronze plaque listing the names of service men and women of the community should be in the center of the planting."

Popular for planting in the living war memorials will be some of the new flowers named during World War II—the Ernie Pyle rose, the Peace rose, the new glowing pink rose named for the WAVes and a huge new viola named the Purple Heart.

J. L. Alton, Hardin county, told County Agent A. J. Thaxton that terraces made on his farm last spring were worth $50 each and a diversion ditch made along a creek bottom was worth $200. The ditch made land tillable that often was too wet to plow, or else too hard when dried out. The field was plowed and cropped this year without difficulty.

Support Price On Hogs To Be Cut $1
New Program Will Be Effective Oct. 1, 1946, Farmers Told

(By Associated Press)
Washington.—Farmers will be guaranteed an average of $1 a hundred pounds less for hogs beginning October 1, 1946. This was announced Tuesday by the Agriculture Department in a new price support program for hogs. The $12 support price for good and choice hogs. The new support price will be in effect for the remainder of the present support price of $13 per 100 pounds at Chicago will be continued. The $13 support price has been scheduled to expire September 1, 1946, but was extended to September 30, 1946. Secretary Anderson said the new support price of $12 at Chicago will reflect at least 90 percent of parity to farmers. Support of the prices at not less than 90 percent of parity is required by law.

Parity for hogs on September 1, 1945 was $12.60. Ninety percent of this is $11.34. The new price support program provides seasonal variations of first time. The $12 average support price will vary with normal seasonal changes in prices, ranging from $10.75 in December 1946, to $13.25 in September, 1947. The new support prices will be for hogs bought by federally selected slaughterers throughout the country. The usual difference between above and below Chicago average support will be maintained.

Look Out Below! Scientists At Work

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer
Washington — If you saw a group of scientists standing on a rooftop hurling radio tubes at a concrete driveway far below you'd probably say they were wasting time—and tubes. But it was such antics that helped in the development of the "VT" fuse, the thriller-diller gadget which is credited with helping to turn the tide in the battle of the Bulge and lick the buzz bombs and the kamikazes. The "VT" is a miniature radio transmitting and receiving set which rides within a shell, bomb or rocket, causing the detonation of the projectile when it comes within pay-off distance of an air or ground target. The target itself, by reflecting the radio waves back to the projectile and causing the triggering of a mechanism, actually brings on its own grief. When scientists of the Office of Scientific Research and Development began playing with the idea of producing such a "proximity fuse" back in 1940, they were faced with this question: Is it possible to develop radio vacuum tubes tiny enough to be fitted into the nose of a projectile but rugged enough to withstand the strain of being shot from a gun at a force 20,000 times the force of gravity? First they mounted a conventional-sized radio vacuum tube in a lead block and took a post-shot at the block with a .22 caliber rifle. The tube didn't even crack. Then, armed with several types of miniature tubes, the scientists took to the rooftops at the Carnegie Institution of Washington. They immersed individual tubes in wax and then started smacking them down upon the concrete driveway far below. The results, declares an official report of the John Hopkins University Applied Physics Laboratory, "were encouraging." Thus encouraged, the laboratory men betook themselves out to a farm in Vienna, Va., set up a home-made smooth-bore "gun" constructed from cold-rolled tubing, and started shooting pro-

Reddy Kilowatt, familiar symbol of dependable electric service, points the way to community improvement in a well-illustrated brochure just issued by Kentucky Utilities Company. It is called, "Setting the Stage for a Better Home Town." Copies will be given to civic leaders here, it was announced. The booklet offers a complete guide to organizations of a Better Home Town Committee which would survey our assets and liabilities, then seek ways to develop our city industrially and in other ways. In an introductory note, K. U. President R. M. Watt says: "Kentucky, predominantly an agricultural state, needs to encourage a high level of production and a stable market for its farmers. An important means of accomplishing this all-important postwar objective is to expand existing industries and create new ones." Enclosed in each copy of the booklet is a questionnaire to help local groups make a complete analysis of their communities and the surrounding trade territory. The wide range of subject matter is indicated by such headings as: "Does your town offer all essential services?" "What are you doing to help the farmer?" and "Marshal your religious forces." Great Britain's crude oil production during 1944 totaled approximately 750,000 barrels.

No Finger in the Dike

THE STORY of the little Dutch boy who saved his country by holding his finger in the dike is symbolic of Holland. It has always been a land of resourcefulness and courage. But there could be no finger in the dike to save Holland this time. All the bravery of all its people could not stop the flood let loose in Germany, which ravaged all Europe, and swept over Holland leaving ruin, death, and starvation in its wake. The Germans left 45 per cent of Holland under water. They stole clothes and blankets, even the blankets from hospitals. They stole so much food that an average of 125 Dutch children died each week from malnutrition. Other Dutch children were so far along the tragic road of starvation that they could not assimilate food. It was necessary to fly to them a rare drug — protein hydrolysate — which, mixed with blood plasma, enabled them to swallow and digest food. This drug was bought and sent by the American Relief For Holland, an agency of your Community War Fund, which is now asking for your annual contribution. Knowing this, and other work the Fund does, have you the heart to refuse or be sparing? In addition to giving life back to Dutch children and other Allied children, the Fund supports the wonderful work of the U.S.O., of the United Seamen's Service, of the Prisoners' Aid, of the Community Chest of your own towns and of other organizations whose very names are blessed by desperately needy people in all parts of the world.

What It Means America In Transition

By Sigrid Arne
(By Associated Press)

The men who must engineer the nation back into peacetime life seem to have one of the fanciest juggling jobs the world has ever seen.

Their success will hinge on whether enough people will have enough money to buy the vast flood of goods American factories are ready to turn out.

The Committee for Economic Development (an employer's association) sees three periods in full restoration of peacetime life:

1. The transitional period, which we are going through now.

2. The period when demand will keep newly opened factories busy.

3. The period when the nation must "shift to a self-sustaining basis, during which jobs will depend on current demand and income."

CED says "Economists feel that the third period is basically the one fraught with the greatest danger to our economy."

converting and settling down. But period No. 1 is causing plenty of worry in some places right now.

No. 2 Needs

CED has just estimated that the nation will need 54,000,000 workers by 1947; that is, after we get into period No. 2.

Until then, several groups have pointed out that the nation is richer than it has ever been, with enough savings to bridge the gap between the time the old jobs close and the new ones open.

The Treasury Department reports there's $54,000,000,000 in individual savings accounts and that $59,000,000,000 in war bonds are held by individuals. In addition, there's unemployment compensation and veteran's unemployment aid.

But... Says CIO

But economists for the Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO) quote a sales survey made by a radio manufacturing firm.

This survey indicated that 73 per cent of the nation's families lived on $3,000 a year or less during the war and that their average savings now are just $300. The CIO doesn't believe $300 will take a family through the winter even it's supplemented with present unemployment compensations.

Workers now can be paid as little as $3 a week compensation in some states. Some states pay up to $28. Length of payments runs from 14 to 26 weeks, according to states. A bill now before Congress proposes that the federal government help the states pay a uniform $25 a week for a maximum of 26 weeks.

CIO economists list four things that must be considered before it can be said whether the nation will have enough money, scattered among enough people, to buy up what the factories will turn out in period No. 2.

1. Millions will be put out of work this winter; the CIO says it figures on 10,000,000 by Christmas, other sources say 5,000,000 to 6,000,000. Living expenses for these people won't leave much for down payments on automobiles and washing machines.

2. War workers will slip back to 40 hours a week and won't get time and a half for the extra eight hours they've been working. The man who was getting $52 will get only about $40 if his hourly rate remains the same.

3. Factories have learned how to turn out more goods with less manpower than in 1940. CED says this too.

4. Thousands of workers will have to shift from high wartime pay to lower peacetime pay.

Open Season On Deer Announced In Four Counties

Frankfort, The Kentucky Game and Fish Commission has authorized an open season on European Red Deer in a mid-state area of four counties, with special license fees and a controlled hunt in a portion of the area featuring the season, which will open January 1.

The commission acted under authority of game and fish laws giving them control of animals causing damage to property. The Red Deer, a species not native to Kentucky, were introduced into the Bernheim Forest preserve, in Bullitt county, about 18 years ago and have multiplied rapidly.

In another important action, the commission asked Gov. Simeon Willis to offer $500 for information leading to arrest and conviction of criminals who have attempted to murder Game and Fish Division officers engaged in blowing up fish dams on "Barren river" and Chaplin creek.

The commission acted in the face of the most recent attempts on the lives of conservation officers—an attempt by a concealed rifleman to set off a charge of dynamite on Barren river, in an apparent effort to kill several division men.

Tentative plans for the deer hunt were approved by the commissioners, following a report by Earl Wallace. Deer have caused heavy damage to crops and Wallace said the Legislature 2 years ago voted to compensate owners in the amount of about $6,000. Reduction of the herd will be brought about through the open season.

Hunters will be permitted to use shotguns only, with either ball charges or buckshot of 9-pellet size or larger. A special license of $10 will be charged. In addition, a successful hunter will pay $15 for a deer tag. Only residents of Kentucky will be eligible for the hunt.

There will be no restriction on either sex or age of the deer, the commission voted, and a license will qualify a hunter to hunt for one or two days, to be decided later. Hunters will be assigned to stations in the controlled area, which will include about 25,000 acres. Outside of the controlled area, it is expected deer will fan out into Hardin, Nelson and Spencer counties.

The division will work out full details of the hunt shortly, and sportsmen will be notified.

... unless Kentucky gets a new truck law!

Of all states in the union, Kentucky has the most restrictive trucking law! Yes... we're at the bottom of the list (see chart below).

That means farm incomes are threatened... for Kentucky farmers cannot compete with farmers of any other state when it costs our farmers more to move the same amount of goods to market.

It also means our Kentucky businesses, industries, stores, etc., are hampered because of higher shipping costs than elsewhere.

And, prices on all the things we Kentuckians eat, wear and use are relatively higher because of higher transportation costs.

Talk to your legislator now. Tell him you want a new modern truck law such as the "uniform code"... which has already been adopted by about 70% of all states! Until Kentucky gets such a law, it's money out of your, and every Kentuckian's pocket! So, let's do something about this... now!

Here is ONE Gasoline that is DIFFERENT!

NEW D-X Provides Correct UPPER-CYLINDER LUBRICATION

...at no extra cost

Ordinary gasolines do not contain a special, heat-resisting lubricant to protect valves, pistons, rings and upper-cylinder walls. But New D-X does—it is different. New D-X protects these vital engine parts, where the most wear occurs. In addition, New D-X provides extra power, speed, mileage...higher octane rating...quicker starting. Prove the difference with a tankful of New D-X or D-X Ethyl. Sold on a money-back guarantee by all D-X Stations!
